Unique identifiers – why we need them?

Current situation according to Single Market Scoreboard 2016

http://ec.europa.eu/internal_market/scoreboard/performance_per_policy_area/public_procurement/index_en.htm

Indicator [9]: Missing Registration Numbers

Estonian example. Background

➤ Public Procurement Register

<https://riigihanked.riik.ee> – central government administered platform since 1998

➤ 96% e-procurements

➤ Full e-procurement cycle available:

eNotification, eSender, eSubmission,

eEvaluation, eAuction, eAward, eContract management

➤ 100% registration numbers

Principles of eEstonia

More information at <https://e-estonia.com/>

- Personal ID number – Population Register

ID-card, mobile ID, e-resident's digi-ID for authentication and e-signature

- Registration number for legal entities (both public or private) – Commercial Register

- Once only principle (OOP) – information is given to state only once

- Systems are connected and retrieve information from base systems like Commercial Register or Population Register over infrastructure called x-road

X-road resources <https://github.com/vrk-kpa/X-Road>

Estonian information system

Connected systems

All you need is unique identifiers!

Estonian Procurement Register follows the principles set for national information systems.

All you need to start operating a system are:

ID-card

and

registration number

Log in with your ID-card. Procuremet Register enters your name and personal ID number to the system. Add contact details. Result - you are a user.

Login

Enter the registration number for legal entity.

Procurement Register receives name, address (updated from the central address data system) and proof you are a legal representative from Commercial Register.

Result - CA is registered and you are its representative in the Procurement Register.

The screenshot shows the Hankija web interface. In the top left, the logo "Hankija" is displayed in orange, with "Contracting authority" in red below it. The main form area contains several input fields and buttons. On the left, there is a label "Registrinumber *" in grey, with "Registration number" in red below it. Next to this is a dropdown menu currently showing "Eesti" with a downward arrow. To the right of the dropdown is a text input field containing "Nt. 12345678". Further right is another dropdown menu showing "Eesti Äriregister" and "Commercial Register" in red, with a downward arrow. Below the "Eesti Äriregister" dropdown is a blue button labeled "Too andmed". To the right of this button is a red link labeled "Retrieve data".

CA and contact data is prefilled in notices
